

SELECTIVE HEATING USING FLASH ANNEAL

Woo Sik Yoo

ABSTRACT

5 A process, which includes implanting hydrogen ions into a silicon substrate, overlaying the silicon substrate on to a support substrate, and applying a flash anneal heat treatment to the silicon and support substrates to cause the silicon substrates to separate at a region defined by the implanted hydrogen ions.

10